

THE BARRE DAILY TIMES

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1911.

Published every week-day afternoon. Subscriptions: One year, $3.00; one month, 25 cents; single copy, 1 cent.

Entered at the post office at Barre as second-class matter.

Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the year 1910 was copies, the largest circulation of any daily paper in Vermont outside of Burlington.

5,626

New York is a shocking town.

Barre was literally taken by storm to-day.

No. Dorothy Arnold has not been seen in Barre—yet.

William Travers Jerome is the same "half-baked" youth he always was.

If Vermont does lose one of its two representatives in Congress, Vermont will be a long time in getting it back.

Montpelier's City Haul wants $15,000 more. (P. S.—This is a rather state statement, but grows more impressive.)

Vice President Sherman is too much of a baseball sport to let the ship subsidy game end a tie in the ninth inning.

It is unnecessary to state that Smith S. Ballard, candidate for mayor of Montpelier, has a policy; he always has one.

That talk of an extra session of the Vermont legislature to take up the "Brattleboro railroad war" again needs to be salted and then laid away.

Like Barre, Rutland maintains a sinking fund, and during the past year the bonded debt was reduced nearly $17,000. The sinking fund works when you don't realize it.

Reports from the trustees of the university of Vermont concerning the selection of a president, to succeed the late President M. H. Buckham, are distinctly encouraging, as the trustees state that they have eliminated the possibilities to a half dozen, any one of whom would make a very acceptable head for the state institution. At the same time, announcement is made that the endowment fund of the institution is accumulating steadily, this also tending to brighten the outlook of the ancient and honorable institution.

The story of medical discoveries whereby diphtheria was cured in a day and tuberculosis in four days, which comes from California, is one of the most remarkable in annals of medicine. In fact, it is so strange as to raise considerable doubt. But the world waits with open mind, ready to accept the discovery as genuine just as soon as the efficiency of the discovery is proved beyond question. The theory at least seems plausible, it being the attack on the disease germs with the bacteria which the germs throw off in the process of their development, the bacteria being hostile to the growth of the disease germs. It will be, indeed, a wonderful step, if the effective and prompt remedy for diphtheria and tuberculosis has been discovered.

THE CHILDREN'S PUBLIC PLAYGROUND.

If the people of Rutland care for any unsolicited testimonials regarding the value of a children's public playground, Barre is prepared to state that after a summer's experiment with a small playground that the idea is good and merits development. Such a place with reasonable amusements and under proper supervision cannot fail to be of considerable benefit to the children of a community. Barre people are so well pleased with the venture under the charge of an organization of public-spirited ladies that they would like to have other playgrounds established in the city. Rutland surely ought to join these 195 cities and towns in the country, which are planning to open playgrounds during the coming season, as the Rutland News states. As a means for bettering the health and morals of the children, it is a powerful agency.

INFANT MORTALITY.

According to the United States census bureau, 125,000 infants die needlessly in the United States each year. That is, if modern hygiene were practiced universally throughout the country, that number of children might be saved annually. Therefore, to the end that modern hygiene may become known throughout the length and breadth of the land, the census bureau proposes, as the first

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

There is an old saying that a good thing advertises itself and it is proving true with the program at the Pavilion, as nearly everyone is talking about the swell show that is being offered there. The Three Mitchells are without a doubt the best colored act that ever appeared before a Barre audience. Mr. Mitchell alone is a whole show, but he is not alone. He has two very able assistants in the two Miss Mitchells, who appear with him. The diamonds worn in this act represent an outlay of over $8,000 on the costumes worn are the best ever seen at the Pavilion, some of the gowns being real Paris importations. Mr. Mitchell is not a bit behind the ladies when it comes to wardrobe. The evening dress suit that he wore at the first show last night caused a gasp of astonishment to run through the audience. The coat was lined with old rose satin, while the vest was a jeweled old gold corset-fitting affair.

TAKEN TO ASYLUM.

Salay Thompson of Richmond, Who Was Free With Firearms.

Burlington, Feb. 4.—Salay Thompson of Richmond, for whom James Kennedy was recently appointed guardian, was taken to Brattleboro yesterday. Mr. Thompson recently spread terror in the neighborhood of his farm by shooting at people who were passing and performing other strange acts which led to an examination into his mental condition.

A Man Who Has an Annuity payment due him every month said today when he took his money: "I wish I had bought more. I intended to, but my brokers have just informed me that there isn't any more." 93d year. National Life Insurance Co., Montpelier, Vt. (Mutual.) E. S. Ballard, general agent, Lawrence block, Montpelier, Vt.

William Martin, Jr., the boy who pleaded guilty in city court Thursday evening to the charge of larceny of a pair of eye glasses from Dr. E. L. Taylor, was sentenced to the industrial school for the remainder of his minority by Judge Scott yesterday afternoon, and the sentence was suspended and the boy placed in the hands of the probation officer.

The Over the Teacups club gave an educational meeting in Aldrich hall on Thursday afternoon, to which the other clubs of the city were invited. The meeting opened with violin music by Messrs. McGowan and Riley, followed by a most interesting talk on "Rural Problems of School Life" by Mr. Seager, town superintendent of schools. Miss Wheelock then gave a reading and the meeting closed with another violin selection by Messrs. McGowan and Riley.
